Cal Talks To 69th Congress

The P. & A. photo here depicts the 69th congress of the United States listening to the Washington's Birthday address of President Coolidge, which was broadcasted over radios all over the country and was heard by a radio audience estimated at forty millions of Americans.

San Francisco Business Man Collapses At Span Raising

H. C. Wagner, publicity man representing the San Francisco chamber of commerce and advertising manager of "San Francisco Business," collapsed from a stroke of apoplexy Thursday afternoon while watching the setting into place of the last span of the new Carquinez Straits bridge, and died shortly thereafter in the Vallejo General hospital.

Wagner, who was 52 years of age, was attending the bridge fête in the official capacity of guest. He stood on a hillside talking with a friend at the time the span was being lifted. His collapse came without warning. All efforts at the hospital to save his life were unavailing.

STREET CAR HITS AUTO

Slight damage was done and no one was injured when an automobile driven by F. B. Abbott, 1108 Barrett avenue, was shaved by a streetcar, of which A. Olsen was motorman, at Ninth street and Macdonald avenue, at 9:40 o'clock last night. The left fender and hub cap of the machine were bent.

FINAL PAPERS

A final decree of divorce from Adele Dymum was granted Thomas M. Bynum of Richmond yesterday by Superior Judge A. B. McKenzie.

Richmond City Planner Speaks At Oakland Meet

Dr. Carol Aronovitch, city planner of Richmond and consultant for many California cities, delivered a talk on "Extended Eminent Domain in Street Openings; Building Set-Back Lines," before the second annual city planning conference held in the Hotel Oakland, Oakland, yesterday afternoon. The conference is scheduled to continue today and great interest is being manifested by thousands of delegates from 200 California municipalities.

Quake Reported From Hungary

BUDAPEST, March 4.—Two earthquake shocks were reported fifty miles from Budapest today. A church and several houses were damaged at Valappes and more than sixty chimneys were shaken down. Several houses collapsed at the second shock.

Seditious Meetings Banned In Hongkong

HONG KONG, March 5.—The local government has gazetted regulations prohibiting processions and meetings which are likely to prove seditious or where a general strike may be advocated.

Ramsde Talks At Insurance Men's Meeting

P. S. W. Ramsde, vice-president of the California Insurance Agents, gave a detailed report of the legislative work that the state association was doing in Sacramento this session at a meeting of the Contra Costa Insurance Agents in Martinez this week. The agents discussed the new brokers' license bill which will take the place of the present agents' license law. Under the new law no insurance company may appoint any one as agent for said company unless the appointee is already licensed as an insurance broker.

W. Madden Of Richmond Has Close Escape In Auto Crash

W. J. Madden, retired capitalist of Richmond, narrowly escaped death Thursday afternoon when his new Nash sedan skidded on slick clay covering the bay shore highway between Martinez and Shepard's canyon and plunged over the bank, rolling over twice on its downward plunge.

Madden was not hurt. The machine was hauled up the 45 per cent grade to the highway. Damage to the car consisted of two bent fenders and a broken glass in the rear of the car. The car was driven to Martinez under its own power.

Frank A. Scholes, local Nash dealer, is reported to be basking in the light of this proof that the Nash car is distinctly an extraordinary machine that cannot be put out of commission by a plunge that ordinarily would be considered a serious accident.

Coroner's Jury Returns Verdict On Death Here

"Death from natural causes" was the verdict in two inquests conducted last night by Coroner Aubrey Wilson into the deaths of Mrs. Matilda Anderson, 64, who was found dead in bed at her home, 517 Eighteenth street, Thursday, and of San Surjan, 42, Santa Fe employee of Oakland who dropped dead in the railroad yards here early this week.

Stolen Bike Is Recovered

Lud Johnson, 815 Pennsylvania avenue, reported to the local police early yesterday morning that a bicycle, valued at $16 and owned by his son, was stolen from in front of his house on Thursday night.

The bicycle was found abandoned at 798 Ninth street last night.

ENGINEERS OF BRIDGE TURN TO SOUTHERN SPAN

South Span of Carquinez Bridge Will Be Raised In Two Weeks

The first of the two center spans of the Carquinez Straits bridge is now securely fastened in place and engineers of the American Toll Bridge company are turning their attention and labors to the second or southern span, which, it is thought, will be placed within two or three weeks. This will complete the ribbon of steel uniting Contra Costa county and Solano county and break the north bay barrier to progress.

A great gathering of engineers congratulated Charles E. Derleth, chief engineer of the toll bridge company, when 12-inch pins were driven into connecting links between the center pier and the Solano shore structure of the bridge with the north center span, terminating one of the greatest engineering feats ever accomplished. Distinguished guests at the banquet were R. S. Buck, builder of the Williamsburg bridge in New York city; Richard Kuehn, general construction manager for the American Bridge company; A. T. de Forest, general manager of the United States Steel Products company for the Pacific coast; K. L. Strickland, W. J. Edwards, R. H. Ball, Oscar Klatt, Martin Schacht, and Allan F. McLane, who supervised the lifting of the span.

4 MARINES KILLED IN NICARAGUA

(By Universal Service)
LOS ANGELES, March 4.—Four American Marines have been slain in Nicaragua's internal war according to refugees who arrived from that country today aboard the S. S. Venetia.

Despite official denials from Washington that there has been any loss of life among American forces in the central American republic today's arrivals insisted that four marines have been killed in the fighting around Chinandega and near Coranito. They were unable to give the exact date or place of the reported slaying. They blamed spies for the alleged killing.

CONGRESS DIES IN DEADLOCK OF FILIBUSTER

Wild Clamor in Senate As Closing Hour of 69th Congress Arrives

(By FRASER EDWARDS)
(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, March 4.—The sixty-ninth Congress, born of the Coolidge landslide, died a legislative paralytic at noon today from a frantic but futile filibuster waged in the Senate by Republicans.

The end came amid scenes of wild disorder in the Senate where an angry, snarling group of Senators hurled political jibes across the aisle, while the House in marked contrast cheered as a musically inclined member sang, "The End of a Perfect Day."

President Coolidge promptly squelched talk of an extra session to rectify the wrong in the killing of the urgent deficiency appropriation bill by the filibustering "three musketeers"—Senators Reed of Pennsylvania, Moses of New Local Fire Chief Named Secretary Of Fire Assn.

Filling the position left vacant by the resignation of J. C. Stover, Chief W. P. Cooper, head of the Richmond fire department, has been named state secretary of the Fire Chiefs' association of California, he announced upon returning from the annual convention held this week in Sacramento.

The association discussed the bills before the legislature affecting the fire departments of the state.

Coolidge Signs Bill For Relief

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, March 4.—Although congress failed to act upon his veto of the McNary-Haughen bill, it sent to President Coolidge today a final bill for "relief of farmers."

The bill provided that agents of farmers cooperative societies shall not be refused membership in boards of trade and similar exchanges which buy and sell farm products.

Its purpose is to give the farmers' cooperatives a direct hand in the fixing of prices, transportation and other arrangements now transacted by middlemen dealers in farm products.

President Coolidge signed it.

BIGAMIST HAS LONG AND BAD CRIME RECORD

(By A. HAROLD NOON)
(By Universal Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, March 4.—John W. Kearney, 32, Arch Bigamist, burglar, jailbreaker and what not, wanted to add a murder to his list of "exploits" today but the police only laughed and warned him not to waste his breath and their time in telling fairy stories.

Kearney is a "beloved rogue," he admits it. And a modern Don Juan too. To prove his right to describe himself as a "beloved rogue," Kearney, his police confession reveals, furnished the police with the following history of himself.

Has served 18 of his 32 years in various prisons throughout the country.

Gurney Gets His Divorce

MARTINEZ, March 4.—Joseph J. Gurney of Richmond was awarded an interlocutory decree of divorce from Mrs. Carrie Gurney in the superior court here today. Gurney charged that his wife left him three days after their marriage in Napa January 8 last, and that she previously informed him that she loved another and that the marriage was a mistake. The plaintiff was represented by Tsar N. Calfee of Richmond.

FAMOUS RABBI DIES IN WRECK

(By Universal Service)
WATERBURY, Conn., March 3.—Rabbi Jessia David Jurman 57, internationally known in Jewish circles, died tonight at a hospital of a fractured skull a few minutes after he was struck by an automobile near his home. He was returning home after conducting a service at the Congregation Beth Israel when the accident occurred.

Local Natatorium Extends Fame To Denver, Colorado

Considered one of the finest natatoriums on the Pacific coast, the fame of the Richmond establishment has reached Denver, Colorado, according to a letter received yesterday by City Engineer E. A. Hoffman.

Data on the local bath house to be incorporated in the new structure planned in Colorado city is asked by A. F. (Denver), business manager for the Denver Legionnaire association.

Many other such requests have been received, officials declare, in regard to the plans of the building, bathing facilities, and architectural points.

Wilson Will Tell Of Coroner's Duties

The duties and work of a coroner will be told members of the Richmond Cosmopolitan club by Coroner Aubrey Wilson at its meeting in the Richmond Union high school bandhouse tonight. Coroner Wilson is to be the principal speaker of the meeting, which will be presided over by Mrs. Emily Axtell, director of the Americanization work in this district. A number of vocal selections will be sung by Mrs. Ross L. Calfee.

Auto Hits Street Car; No Damage

No one was injured and but slight damage was done when a car driven by F. D. Abbott, 1108 Barrett avenue, collided with a street car at Ninth street and Macdonald avenue at an early hour last night.

SHIP CREW RESCUED

(By Universal Service)
TOKIO, March 5.—The passengers and crew of the Japanese liner Anbei Maru, which was wrecked yesterday 40 miles off Oshima, have been rescued, according to word received here today. The steamer carried 100 passengers and 50 officers and men.

LAST YAWN, BOW TAKEN IN CONGRESS

If you are interested in the doings of Congress, which expired yesterday noon in the grip of Senator Reed's heartless filibuster, you will find it completely covered by Universal Service on page 5 of this morning's RECORD-HERALD. The final hours of congress were hectic hours. Proponents of vital legislation tried in vain to force passage of their measures, while the battle between Senator Reed of Missouri and Senator Reed of Pennsylvania deadlocked the nation's higher legislative body.

The full details, covered by Washington correspondents of Universal Service, are on page five.

FORTY RESCUED FROM SPANISH SHIP OFF N. Y.

(By Universal Service)
NEW YORK, March 4.—Rescue of the crew of 40 from the flaming Spanish freighter Cabo Hatteras was revealed in radio dispatches tonight.

Five steamers answered the freighter's "SOS" call after it caught fire 140 miles off New York. While the President Roosevelt, famous rescue ship, Independence Hall, Washington Maru, and Windpied were rushing to aid, the Cabo Hatteras crew put out in two life boats. Both were picked up by the Spanish ship Cabo Torea. Radiograms from the latter ship said "all have been saved." The fire was caused by an explosion.

TWO TAKEN FOR PETTY LARCENY

Arrested on charges of obtaining merchandise from Richmond stores under false pretenses, Ralph Griffin and Charles Johnson, brothers-in-law, are in custody of local authorities awaiting trial. They were arrested in Alameda.

The two men obtained nearly $20 worth of goods from two merchants asking that the goods be charged to a fictitious address, according to Captain B. V. Shirley of the Richmond police.

In Alameda, when they asked that merchandise be charged, the merchants became suspicious and investigated. The result was the arrest of the men in an Oakland auto camp, where the Richmond goods were found.

Valleians Here For Rotary Meet

Sheriff Jack Thornton and City Attorney Harry Gee, both of Vallejo, were in attendance to witness the initiation of George Thornton into the Richmond Rotary club. The two Thorntons are brothers.

FIGHT LOOMS ON SEIZURE OF FEDERALSHIP

Protests To Be Filed By Britain, Canada And Panama

(By Universal Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, March 4.—An international controversy of huge proportions over the enforcement of America's prohibition laws threatened today as a result of the seizure last Tuesday of the Panama merchant steamer Federal Ship.

Representatives of the craft owners announced that protest will be filed with the Panama government, the British foreign office, and the Canadian minister at Washington and the British consul here.

A wordy conflict over international peacetime right on the high seas together with indemnity claims from the U. S. appeared in prospect.

A special session of the federal grand jury has been called for tomorrow to hear evidence against Frank V. Donohue, first mate and supercargo, and Alex Kennedy, second mate.

Speeder Is Given 30 Day Sentence And $25 Fine

Thomas Barrett, San Francisco automobile mechanic, arrested by Richmond police on a charge of speeding on Macdonald avenue at the rate of 50 miles an hour during the evening rush, was given a 30-day jail sentence and assessed $25 when he appeared before Police Judge C. A. Odell yesterday.

Barrett was also found to be without a driver's license. His only excuse was that he was in a hurry to get the ferry to return to San Francisco. Claiming that he had come from Europe only eight months ago, he stated that he often drove 75 miles an hour without fearing arrest, and that he did not know an operator's license was required.

Edward Frederickson of Berkeley was fined $20 on a charge of speeding.

FOUR BIRTHS ARE RECORDED

Birth certificates filed with the city health department yesterday record that children were born to the following:

Mr. and Mrs. Jesus Perez, 681 Fourth street, a daughter, named Amelia, March 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Pedro Ribera, 126 Macdonald avenue, a son, named Trinidad, February 23.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Fracchia, 1160 Hopkins street, Berkeley, at Richmond Maternity hospital, a daughter, named Geraldine, February 28.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bonaccorso, 240 Fourteenth street, a daughter, named Lois Candia, February 28.

NEW SERIAL "A REGULAR SCOUT"
Thrills! Action! Love Interest!
WILL START IN RECORD-HERALD

Are you a Boy Scout? Are you a "Boy Scout's" relative? Hev you red blood in your veins? Do you like a story with love interest, adventure, color, laughter, tears? Are you an American?

Then you will want to read this amazing story of purely American adventure, made from a nationally-known motion picture in which the famous Fred Thomson and his horse, Silver King, are starred. Read it beginning Tuesday in the RECORD-HERALD!

In making his newest and most pretentious film production, "A Regular Scout," for FBO, the story of which will soon appear in this paper, Fred Thomson has finally achieved an ambition of many years' standing. Before he entered pictures Thomson was a minister in Nevada, and became greatly interested in welfare work among the boys of the community. This led him into taking up Scout activities, and he soon became Boy Scout commissioner for the state, quitting the position only when he went overseas as chaplain for the 143rd Field Artillery. But his interest in Scout affairs has never ceased, and his chief purpose in making the new film was to show to the world the value and inspiration of the Boy Scout ideals, a purpose which he has admirably fulfilled.

Buck Black, who plays the leading Boy Scout role in Fred Thomson's new FBO film, "A Regular Scout," the story of which will soon appear in this paper, has only one ambition—to get an armful of the Scout badges which are given for proficiency in the various branches of outdoor activities. Buck is probably the most enthusiastic Scout of his size in the entire Los Angeles Council, and is confidentially reported to spend most of his time in reading Scout manuals and learning the intricacies of fire-making when not at school or working before the camera.

FLIRTING

Certain of the leaders of the colored voters who in New York, Ohio, Illinois, Indiana and even in New England have been attempting to lead their forces into the democratic party fold will do well before they go any further to request of Attorney General Pollard of Texas, Democrat, a copy of the brief which he has filed in the United States Supreme Court asserting and defending the right of the dear old democratic party in Texas to exclude negroes from the democratic primaries in that state. Mr. Pollard argues that a primary is not an election within the meaning of the constitution and therefore that they have a legal right to do so.

Inasmuch as in Texas the primary is the one real event in the political life of the state, for in a great number of places they do not even bother to hold elections, this is about as open a move for the disfranchisement of the negroes as has been undertaken for some years. Thus while in the northern states by means of patronage the democrats are making a determined drive to win the colored people to their standards and it must be agreed the flesh pots have won white as well as colored people to certain movements a move like Pollard's must make plain there can never be any real sympathy between the democratic party and the negro party. The ending of attempted association inevitably will be that of the lady who attempted to ride on the tiger. In that case it will be remembered than on the return trip the lady was inside and the smile was on the face of the tiger.

Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Signed letters pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Letters should be brief and written in ink. Owing to the large number of letters received, only a few can be answered. No reply can be made to queries not conforming to instruction. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this newspaper. Name you, city on your return envelope. Don't say "city."

QUARRELING WITH HIS RATIONS

Do you recommend eating white bread, asks a correspondent, and if so, why? Is it harmful to eat just one kind of food without something else to counteract it? Sure, Mike, I recommend eating white bread, because it is a whole, some and substantial food, on which I believe one could live very well, provided the bread were comfortably upholstered with deep tufted country butter and one could swipe an occasional green onion or other fresh green raw delicacy to garnish the bread 'n' butter with.

As a general rule it is advisable to have as much variety of food as the market, season and purse will permit. A change is better than a rest. In a multitude of victuals there is not likely to be any serious deficiency of one factor or another. But this correspondent has the wrong idea, or at any rate he uses the wrong word. The other foods to go with the bread do not "counteract" anything, for there is no possible effect from bread that would require counteraction. The additional items rather serve to supplement the bread in the diet.

Probably our friend (I say friend because I suspect he hasn't been reading this column long) is laboring under misapprehensions about food which he has derived from the mail order propaganda of so called "food specialists," chaps who manage to come bobbing up as blithe and unabashed as ever, after each conviction by the federal authorities, and by making trifling alterations in their method of approach or in the form of delivery, recover far more than the pecuniary federal prosecution has cost them back, thanks to the eternal truth of what Mr. Barnum according to his biographer, declared.

The subtle notion that our rations have deadly feuds and clash in the course of digestion or conspire to poison the unsuspecting host, is a mainstay of the fake food specialist business. Without this ridiculous hoax the shady faraway "authorities" on scientific eating and all that kind of bunk could hardly catch Mr. and Mrs. Wise & Helmer so easily.

Of course it doesn't mean anything to the Wise & Helmer family that physiologists have never discovered any of these explosive or ruinous "combinations" which the gentry who hold forth in the back pages of snide magazines profess to have unearthed. Mr. Wise and Mrs. Helmer would scorn to accept a nice wedge of lemon pie even if they were famishing, for you see lemon pie contains a deadly combination of carbohydrates (starch or sugar) and fruit acids—a combination which the Creator put in some of the victuals which poor Adam and his spouse had to subsist on.

Any conceivable combination of two or more foods may be taken together if the combination appeals to one's taste or appetite. Personally, I dislike cream on my grapefruit, in fact I hate grapefruit in any way, shape or manner, but I don't believe it is poisonous. Just to show how foolish my taste is, I do love cream on my strawberries, and I have never yet suffered alarmingly from this combination, except once or twice when the check seemed frightful.

It is unnecessary to advise folks to eat all they want, for they generally do anyway, but it is good hygiene to advise every one to eat as many kinds or varieties of food as possible, and never quarrel with your rations or permit them to quarrel within you.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Very Good Salts

What kind of salts is it you recommended so highly for constipation a short time ago? (R.T.) Answer—Sommersaults.

Pork Is Good Food

Is it true as some people contend that pork is an unhealthful food and that the meat of the hog is a disease carrier? I understand that people who abstain from pork are healthier than people who include it in their diet, pork, ham or sausage. (C.L.)

Answer—No. Pork is as healthful and wholesome as any other kind of flesh meat, and is more nutritious than most other meats. Most of the meat consumed in the United States today is pork. Underdone or raw pork, ham or sausage may carry the dangerous parasite called trichina worm. But underdone or raw beef may carry parasite, too. There is no evidence that pork eating people are any less healthy than people who eat no pork. The hog is not naturally unclean but some people who raise or keep hogs are dirty, and they like company, so they keep their stock under filthy conditions.

Bad Treatment

Please give me your opinion on painting sore spots caused by neuritis with iodine. Please tell me how to take iodine in drinking water. I had a sore spot over one of my lungs, went to a specialist who visits the house every month and he called it neuritis of the nerves and told me to paint iodine onto it. (S.F.C.)

Answer—So the peregrinating all around specialist still finds easy picking out your way? If you really have neuritis you had better not use iodine unless under proper medical care. If a doctor or specialist is any good at all he scarcely has to make the circuit of the hick towns in order to get something or somebody to do.

Cigar Smoker's Anguish

My husband smokes a good many cigars and always has, and now his heart worries him because it seems to miss out on a beat every other time. I think it is the result of his constant smoking, but he is doubtful. There are cigar ends in every room and I have a regular daily job throwing them out. (Mrs. S. W. J.)

Answer—Tobacco poisoning is the cause of serious heart disease. Heavy cigar smokers frequently develop angina pectoris. When a man has more than two or three smokes a day he is generally indulging to excess and many men sooner or later pay for overindulgence.

DO FIGURES LIE?

"My husband and I want six or seven children. Number one is here already. Our income is $25 a week. What do you think of this idea?"

"Without throwing bouquets at ourselves we are the real old-fashioned kind of Christian, law-abiding citizens, perfectly healthy and, I hope, intelligent. Our home is cheerful and our children will find in it wholesome companionship and good influences."

"We love children and want them while we are young. But what can we do? Is it right to have them? Could we feed and clothe six youngsters? What do you think?"

"MOTHER."

I cannot think. The figures have knocked me cold. Whew! Let's see. For express charges of Stork and Company, including hospital care for bringing six children into this world$ 3,000

For raising six children at wholesale rates up to age of 18 30,000

For college education at retail rates 24,000

Total$57,000

Total earnings for 18 yrs. 23,400

Deficit$33,600

(Note)—Deficit does not include living expenses of parents.

I will have to let those who have raised six on $25 a week answer this lady; someone who can point out that my figures are wrong and who tells us through the column that Stork and Company does the job for $50 apiece and that my figures on the cost of raising a child up to the age of 18 are all wrong. (As a matter of fact, I put the cost below that figured out by experts.)

Children cost money, and often are worth all they cost. At birth a baby is said to have a potential value of $9,000. And at the age of 18 a boy or girl is worth about $23,000.

So at that rate six children would be worth at the age of 18 $168,000. Deducting the deficit of $33,600 leaves a net profit of $134,400.

Not so bad!!!

If my readers will only tell this mother through addressing a letter to me in care of this newspaper, how, on earnings of $23,400, a father can raise six children costing $57,000, and still figure out how he and his wife have produced a potential profit of $134,400 net, I'll be much obliged and mother will be eternally grateful.

OUR CONVERSATION CORNER

Home Study

I do not quite understand your attitude toward home study.

TEACHER.

ANSWER—Some very intelligent people hold there should be no home study of any kind relating to school work, and that all school work should be done in school time, leaving the after hours of the pupil free for play, recreation and personal accomplishment. For little children I say no home study. If we can ever get the right kind of home study for pupils over 10 years of age I will commend home study. Home study as a means of supplementing the work of the school, or as a means of encouraging proper home reading habits and the home use of the public library service is good.

TRAINING IN SELF-DIRECTED, PURPOSEFUL AND PROFITABLE home study is a necessity for all young people who hope to advance themselves either in school or in after life.

But I must say that the average child is laced down with a mass of home study assignments of which parents can make neither head nor tail. One day Johnnie comes home with six books and is expected to study six hours. The next day no books and no study. We watch him "study."

Does he know how to attack the job? Does he know when he has finished? Is his whole mind on his study? Does his home study serve to inculcate habits of research and self-improvement or is it a task to be finished as quickly as possible? Does he say, "When I grow up I'll never open a book?"

On the answer to these questions depends the value of home study.

A Difficult Situation

I can't reason with my parents. The only response I get is, "I am boss. You do what I say while you are in my house. What you say doesn't count."

For four years I have been working and giving them my full salary each week. They are cold, indifferent, strict and narrow-minded.

GIRL OF 21.

ANSWER—It is the custom of the race from which you come for the parents to exercise a great deal of control over their daughters until they are married, and to take all the money they earn.

The boys of your race usually get opportunity to go to college, to spend money and time freely, but the girl is held down until she is married. After that the husband takes the responsibility of managing her the rest of his life. This is what you are up against. Your family isn't cruel or indifferent with any evil intent; it is the way their parents trained them and they do not see the injustice of it.

You are old enough to marry and leave them, or stay with them and pay for board and room and keep the rest yourself.

was the signal for bedlam to break loose, and somebody put out the lights. When Herne threw out on again Fairfax and his merry men had vanished, and I was sitting on the deck covered with blood and looking kind of silly at the holes in my coat. Old man Herne phoned for a medic and the John Laws while I was being put to bed upstairs with the very pale but cool Barbara in charge of me. Pansy was weeping her head off, and Carlton Herne was trying to help his distracted mother quiet the hysterical guests.

As I was still as weak as boarding house coffee, Barbara wouldn't let me go down to our office or anything else, so I decided to get together at my health resort in Fairfax Falls, and she came along with me as my nurse. Our wedding date was only a month away, and no kidding, I counted those days like a miser counts his dimes. If Jack Fairfax had croaked me before I'd had a chance to be Barbara's husband I'd of come back from the grave and haunted that girl off the face of the earth!

Well, one brow bright moonlight night, I couldn't seem to get any shut-eye—thinking too much, I guess—so I got up, threw on a dressing gown and strolled around the grounds in the mild summer air. In spite of my bandaged and still throbbing arm and shoulder, I was the happiest guy in the wide, wide world. I'd made the grade! I was just going to go inside and try my luck at grabbing off some sleep when the hedge parts suddenly and my heart almost done the same thing—for ten feet away from me was Mr. Jack Fairfax himself, wild eyed, unshaved, his clothes torn and rumpled and a gun in his hand.

I didn't need to be a doctor to know at a glance that this baby was in shape to pass the entrance examinations for any insane asylum in the world. There was murder in his crazy glare, and not only was I unarmed, but I was wounded! His roving eyes took in my bandages with great satisfaction as I stood there facing him and putting my mind through hoops in an effort to think fast. Things had positively come to a pretty pass, but I kept quiet and I tried to keep my head.

Well—say something, can't you? sneers Fairfax in a cracked voice after a minute. "Or are you frightened, speechless?"

"What do you want?" I asked him slowly, wishing I was in the habit of packing a gat, which I wasn't.

"Ha, ha, ha!" he cackles. "What

WHAT'S WRONG HERE

ANSWER—Here, is a rejected suitor. He has tried and failed. His girl turned him down. The ill-mannered knave is rejecting and playing-up on the flute. Somebody should tell him that the only possible way for a rejected lover to show that he wasn't raised in a stable is to take a large stone in each hand and start walking across the Gulf of Mexico. If he reaches the opposite shore he will be recognized as a gentleman and a scholar.

Bill Grimm's Progress

H.C. WITWER

Copyright, 1925, by Collier's Weekly and G. F. Putnam Sons
"Bill Grimm's Progress" is a picture by Film Booking Offices of America, Inc., (F. B. O.) of H. C. Witwer's stories of the same name.

Bill Grimm, risen from the ranks of the heavyweight boxers through the encouragement of his fiancée, Barbara Baxter, is cheated out of the championship and gives up the ring. He has a well-established chain of ice-cream parlors run by Barbara. Carlton Herne, married to Pansy Pilkington, has a party at which a masked gayer enter for nefarious purposes. Bill, Herne's friend, betrays the leader is Fairfax, his enemy.

Like a flash I shot out my arm and tore off his mask to look into a twisting, familiar face. "Oh!" gasps Barbara and Pansy together. "Fairfax!"

"Well, I'll be a son of a cannon!" I exclaimed, stepping up to him. "Where do you get this rough stuff, you maniac?"

"As you see, I've taken your advice and armed myself, Grimm!" he grates at me. "Now it's your move!"

Raising his fist angrily, young Herne made a quick step toward him, and Fairfax promptly leveled his gun at him.

"Try it!" he hissed. "I dare you! I wish any one of you would attack me, particularly you, Grimm, you ignorant lout. All I want is an excuse to kill you! What is it you were going to do when we met again?"

"This!" I snapped, losing my head completely and crashing him to the polished floor with a right hook to the button.

The shrill screams of the frantic ladies were still in the air when Fairfax rolled over on the floor, took deliberate aim at me and fired point blank twice. I got it in the arm and shoulder. He was a bust as a sharpshooter like he was at everything else.

The banging of Fairfax's gun from me, and I got dizzily to my feet, panting like a newly caught fish. I was a sight to behold and plenty weak!

Leaning against a tree, I was fighting for breath, when something made me wheel around. "I was just in time, for Fairfax was creeping toward me with an ax in his hand! A workman had left it there, I'd noticed it before, and Fairfax had snatched it up."

He let out a baffled howl when I ducked away from his first lunge, and dodging backward I wildly searched the grass with my eyes for that gun. It was a case of try and find it! Again this lunatic swung the ax, and I felt a yellow behind me. Barbara was framed by the moonlight in the doorway of the house, where she'd run right from her bed when Fairfax's yell had woke her up. In turning my head to look at her I tripped and fell over the stump of a tree, and in the same glance I saw Fairfax's gun in the grass at my feet!

I scrambled madly to get up, but Fairfax was on top of me with one spring and a yell of crazy joy. I watched him raise the ax over me and his face looked like nothing human! The ax went to over his head and I gritted my teeth, wondering what the angels really looked like. Then there was a sharp, sharp explosion, and the ax dropped from Fairfax's hands right in the midst of his murderous swing. It fell behind him, and he fell on me, grabbing at his leg and screaming. The quick thinking Barbara had snatched up the gun and fired, and on top of everything else I owed her I now owed her my life!

Butch, Izzy and the others came tumbling out half dressed and dragged Fairfax off me. He was raving and babbling like a baby. "I'm to fix up his leg—it was drilled clean through—and not to manhandle him, for the poor devil was out of his mind. But run to rouse up a doctor and somebody to take Fairfax in charge. Very white and very beautiful, with a bathrobe thrown over her nightgown, Barbara turned to me.

"Bill," she says, "come inside and let me bandage your arm."

I put the good arm around her and held her close.

"Hey, listen! I say. Every time I'm away from you I get in some kind of a jam. This one was no mooning me! I ain't going to wait no month for your wedding—why not make it next week?"

"Why not make it tomorrow, Bill?" she answers softly.

And, boys and girls, that's exactly what we did!

EASTERN STAR MEMBERS STILL IN HOSPITAL

Members of Beacon chapter, Order of Eastern Star, meet in regular session tonight in the Masonic hall. It is hoped that Mrs. Lilly Gillard, worthy matron, has recovered sufficiently from injuries received in an automobile accident several weeks ago, to be present. J. E. Hill, worthy patron, who was hurt in the same accident, is still confined in the hospital.

PYTHIAN SISTERS HOLD ALL DAY SESSION

An all day session featured by a covered dish luncheon was held by the Contra Costa 'Temple No. 113, Pythian Sisters' Sewing club in the home of Mrs. Ruth Klick 1112 Masonic avenue, Albany, yesterday.

Members gathered at the home of Mrs. Barbara Opman, 262 Sixteenth street, and transportation was furnished to the Klick home. It was reported that a great amount of work was accomplished and an unique social time enjoyed.

LEWIS STONE AT RICHMOND IN TOWER OF LIES

As might be expected the three-year examination played by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer in the filming of "The Tower of Lies," now appearing at the Richmond theatre, is a magnificent success.

Great as have been the former successes of Loni Chaney and Norma Shearer, never before have they reached the heights attained in this picture.

The story of "The Tower of Lies" begins with the birth of "Goldy," an unwelcome addition to a pair of drudges. The stork brought her at the same time a calf was born to the family cow and in the opening scenes we see "Jan" in the lara tending the birth of the calf while the birth of "Goldy" is left to neighborhood women attending "Katrina."

But with the coming of "Goldy" we behold a changed "Jan." We do not believe we have ever seen upon the screen such a pathetic and appealing love between father and daughter, a love which endures until Jan's mind is clouded to a point where he fails to recognize the waywardness of the formerly innocent daughter.

To rectify more of the story of "The Tower of Lies" would detract from the entertainment of the picture, which would manifestly be unfair to the players. The best way to get the "kick" of this picture is to see it yourself.

Other film features include "Mighty Like a Moose," a Charley Chase comedy, and "Red Hot Rails," a screen novelty.

Carquinez Toll Bridge Company Liable To Suit

U. S. Webb, attorney-general in Sacramento, yesterday granted permission to Hans A. Miller, of San Francisco, to sue the Northern California Development company, organized to construct a toll bridge over Carquinez Straits to connect Contra Costa and Solano counties, under warrant to proceedings. This was done to test its right of exercising a corporation franchise because it failed to obtain permission to build the bridge.

The law which will be the basis of the suit says permission must be obtained from the counties within six months after incorporation papers have been filed. To date Contra Costa county has refused to sanction the bridge.

Webb in granting permission for the suit says that the issue is a public question of considerable moment, and should be submitted to the courts for decision.

The law frequently has been amended since its enactment a half century ago, but the provision requiring a permit within six months has never been stricken out. This Webb says he can see no reason for, as many other provisions of the statute have been deleted among them being that toll bridges must be erected at specified locations.

FILM OF ITALY 'BLONDE SAINT' AT CALIFORNIA

One of the best shows offered this season is "The Blonde Saint," starring Lewis Stone and Doris Kenyon, adapted from Stephen F. Whitman's story, "The Isle of Life," which opened a two-day engagement at the California theatre yesterday.

Doris Kenyon and Lewis Stone, always finished performers, gave the most inspired characterization of their respective careers.

Stone, ordinarily the suave sophisticated of cosmopolitan surroundings, has donned the simple garb of a Sicilian fisherman and gives one of the most human performances of his life. He plays the role of an American novelist journeying in the little Sicilian village where he meets the regal looking girl whose puritanical philosophy has won her the name of "The Blonde Saint."

Doris Kenyon, whom we have always held to be one of the most beautiful women of the screen, now becomes one of our favorite actresses. She's immense as "The Blonde Saint."

Interwoven in their unique love affair is the romance of a lovely Sicilian girl and her husband, who have been banished to the hills for marrying against the wishes of their families.

These two characters, played by Ann Rork and Gilbert Roland, have almost as much to do with making the picture so absorbing as the principals. Ann, a lovely brunette, will soon be starred if she keeps up the pace she has set in this production.

Side by side with the interest of the plot is the artistry of the settings.

Tony Guadio, the photographer, a native of Sicily and familiar with the locale of the photoplay, has produced a number of beautiful effects in the Sicilian fishing village, the temple ruins, and the cliffs on the edge of the sea.

Svend Gade, the Danish director, and Sam E. Rork produced the play for First National.

Other features include the fourth story of youthful folly, "The Collegians"; "Mutt and Jeff" cartoon; "International News," and Larry Canelo at the organ.

Showing Hollywood Something

A splendid thing! That's how Marshal Neilan and his famous wife, Blanche Sweet, gave their approval of the smokeless flashlight powder photographers used when taking their picture at New York. The smoke screen from flashlights is very annoying in Hollywood, they report. Furthermore, Marshal reports that he always comes to New York to get new ideas for the movies. Shall we take that with a grain of paprika? They'll buy stories here and then return to California.

Local Men Held Up By Bandits

Two bandits Thursday night relieved George Scott, local taxicab driver, residing at 121 Macdonald avenue of $5, but took nothing from his companion, Harold Ferguson, 583 Fifth street, in a daring holdup opposite LaVra Inn, on San Pablo avenue. Scott reported to the police that he was followed by another automobile from Berkeley, but paid little attention to the matter. He stopped opposite the Inn on account of engine trouble and the machine which had been following drew up alongside and the two men in it volunteered assistance. Scott asked for a tow, and one of the robbers exclaimed, "I'll give you a tow all right," at the same time sticking a gun into Scott's face. The only description furnished to the local authorities was that one of the bandits was short and the other tall.

Entire Cast Of "Sex" Face Time In N. Y. Prison

(By Universal Service)
NEW YORK, March 3.—An indeterminate term of not more than three years in the county penitentiary faces every one of the 24 individuals—cast, producers, backers and theatre owners—indicted in connection with the production of the alleged salacious play "Sex."

If convictions are obtained, Mac West, co-author of the play and leading lady, John Cort, 67-year-old theatre owner, James Timony, lawyer and alleged producer, might go to jail for as much as three years.

If convictions are secured, it is optional with the judge as to what the sentence shall be. He may impose fines or jail terms, or even suspend sentence.

Cort and Timony appeared before Judge Allen in general sessions today and pleaded not guilty. Spielberg also pleaded not guilty for the 63rd Street Theatre, Ltd., Inc., also indicted. The Moral Productions Corp., Mac West and the remainder of the 22 must appear before Judge Allen tomorrow for pleading. They were scheduled for appearance today, but the case did not get on the calendar.

YOUNG BANDIT TAKES $700 IN FERRY HOLDUP

Seven hundred dollars was the loot taken by an armed man yesterday morning from the office of the Rodeo-Vallejo Ferry at Morrow Cove on the Solano county side of Carquinez straits.

Shortly after the first boat had left the cove for the Contra Costa side, a man appeared on foot and asked Alex Patterson, ticket agent for a ticket. When Patterson reached for a ticket, the young man brandished a revolver and demanded all the money in the office.

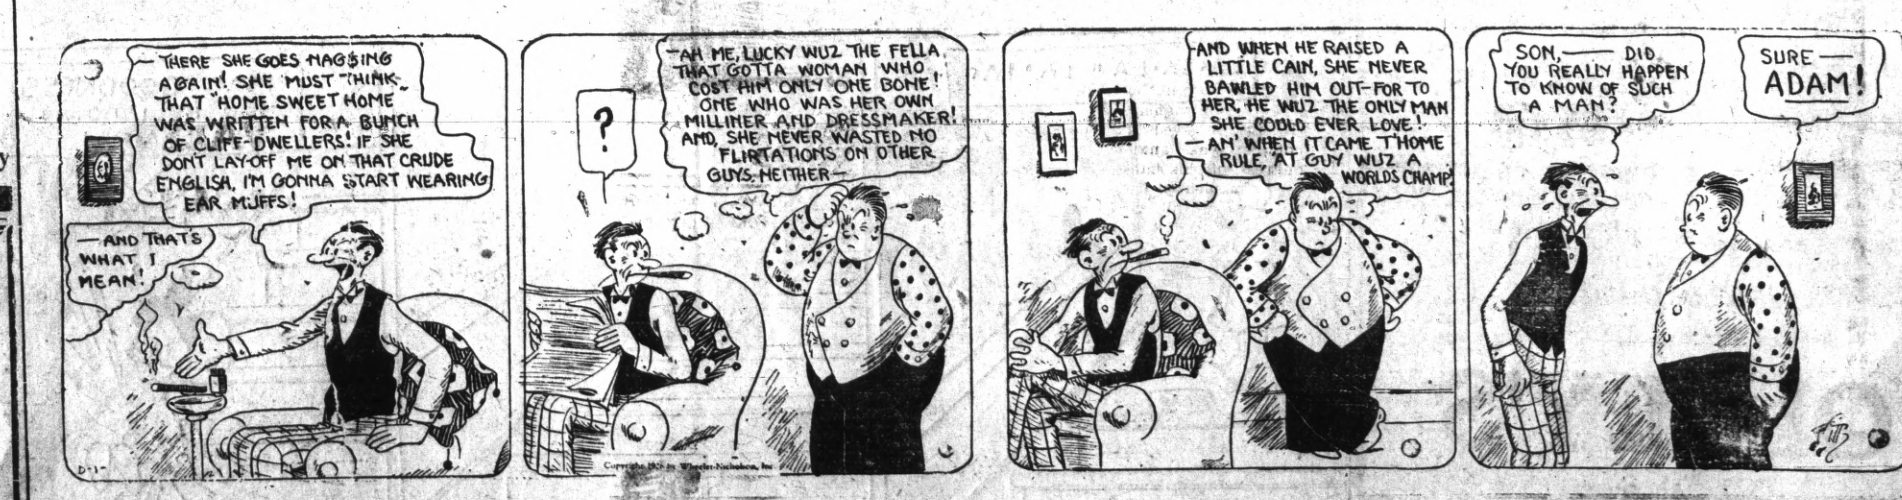

Patterson reported to the police that he handed over between $600 and $700, managed to withhold about $100. The bandit then forced Patterson to walk several hundred yards with him to where a car was parked and commanded him to walk back while the young man started the car and drove away.

Officer Jack Scully and Frank Blazevick were sent after the robber, following a call put in by Patterson as soon as he reached the office. It was reported by a truck driver who reached the station a few minutes later that he had seen a young man in a large touring car speeding toward Vallejo.

CONGRESS PASSES MANY GOOD PEICES OF LEGISLATION IN 69TH SESSION JUST ENDED

Coolidge Has Reason to Feel Proud, But Democrats See Much Lacking

By ARTHUR MACHTEN
(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, March 4.—President Coolidge can point with pride to accomplishments of the 69th Congress, which rode into power in his great landslide of 1924, but the Democrats will find in its record of failures much to condemn.

Legislation of far-reaching importance was passed as urged by the President; but the "Coolidge Congress" frequently flatly refused to do his bidding.

Farm Relief Balked
The great divide came on farm relief proposals. Although both houses of Congress passed the McNary-Haugen bill by large majorities, there was no attempt to force it over the presidential veto.

In his nominations President Coolidge was rebuffed by the Senate as few Presidents ever have been. After rejecting the nomination of Charles Beecher Warren for attorney-general, the Senate put its foot down on other appointments, notably the nomination of Cyrus E. Woods for interstate commerce commissioner, and Wallace McCamant and William J. Tilson for judgeships.

World Court
President Coolidge jammed through adhesion to the World Court, but Senators who voted his way were repudiated in the elections, and the anti-court Senators eventually won, through decision of the foreign powers not to accept our reservations.

In appropriating funds for construction of three new cruisers, Congress defied the President. Congress overrode him providing funds for a greater navy and army than he had recommended.

Major accomplishments of the 69th Congress were:

Tax reduction which saves taxpayers more than $500,000,000 annually.

Funding of all war debts, excepting that of France, which awaits only ratification by France. Adopted $165,000,000 public building program.

Established aviation division in commerce department to stimulate commercial aviation.

Passed bill reorganizing foreign service of commerce department.

Establishment of a commission to regulate the radio industry.

Passed resolution postponing application of national origins plan for limiting immigration quotas.

Passed bill authorizing government loans to veterans on their adjusted compensation certificates.

Passage of a railway peace plan, designed to prevent strikes through mediation of disputes.

Dry Enforcement
Reorganization of prohibition enforcement system, divorcing responsibility from commissioner of internal revenue to secretary of the treasury. All agents are put under civil service regulations.

Amended national bank act, giving national banks a larger field of operation and settling the controversial branch banking issue. This law also extends charters of the federal reserve banks.

House passed Porter resolution urging new treaties with China to give that country full control over domestic affairs.

Senate passed Robinson resolution favoring arbitration of dispute between United States and Mexico over land laws in the latter country.

Where It Failed
On the negative side Congress failed in following matters: Refused to pass legislation asked by the President to protect public against constantly recurring strikes and lockouts in the coal industry.

Failed to further consolidation of railroads. Despite recommendations by the President for action.

Boulder Dam
Killed the Boulder Dam bill by Senate filibuster.

Failed to dispose of German-American mixed claims growing out of the war, involving property worth $600,000,000.

Failed to pass bill appropriating $19,878,000 for public buildings.

He's a Fighter

also bill authorizing an additional $100,000,000 program. All records for political investigation were broken by the Senate. The House despatched its business with alacrity only to see many bills smothered in Senate filibusters.

Smith-Vare
There were the prolonged fights over seating of Senators-elect Smith of Illinois and Vare of Pennsylvania.

There were bitter fights over whether to seat Nye of North Dakota, Bratton of New Mexico, Gould of Maine, Schall of Minnesota, and Steck of Iowa.

CAL WAITS AS SENATE DIES IN FILIBUSTER

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, March 4.—Unruffled by the stormy scenes, President Coolidge gave his official presence to the dying hour of Congress today.

He motored from the White House to the capitol, arriving in the President's room outside the Senate chamber at 11 o'clock. There he waited to sign or disapprove any of the bills which might emerge from the jammed legislative hopper.

Secretary Sanders, Budget Director Lord and a large staff of White House clerks and attaches accompanied him. All the cabinet officers assembled in the President's room also in order that he might draw upon them for information upon any bills.

The President had a relatively easy day, compared with previous sessions which had flooded him with last-minute legislation. Not a single bill came to him in the last hour from the war-torn Senate.

There came to him from the House 24 bills and four joint resolutions, all of which had been passed by the Senate before it got into its final filibuster. He signed them all. Before leaving for the capitol, he had signed 97 bills at the White House. The only one of major importance were those which permit loans to their insurance certificates, to reorganize the prohibition unit and to prevent unjust discriminations against farmers' co-operatives.

President Coolidge was aware that an ugly battle was in progress in the Senate but he was too far removed from the scene to hear the invective of Pat Harrison and "Dave" Reed of Pennsylvania. Within five minutes after the adjournment of Congress, President Coolidge had left the capitol and was autoing comfortably to the Patterson mansion for lunch.

It was believed that President Coolidge was anxious to have Congress off his hands. He would have been pleased if the deficiency appropriation bill had passed, but he believed there were no vital problems which could not wait for the next session of Congress.

Thousands Of Veterans Are Left In Uncertain Status In Last Minute Senate Jam

By JOHN T. LAMBERT
(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, March 4.—General Frank T. Hines and other officers of the Veterans' Bureau tonight were struggling to devise means by which direct government loans can be made to World War veterans on their insurance certificates.

Caught in the final legislative jam, the thousands of veterans who have appealed in vain to their local banks for loans were left in an uncertain status.

As one of its last acts, Congress passed to bill authorized General Hines to make the loans. President Coolidge signed it. The bill authorized Secretary of the Treasury Mellon to transfer $25,000,000 to General Hines in order that the loans might be negotiated without delay, but the appropriation of $25,000,000 was contained in the deficiency appropriation bill which died as the result of the filibuster started two days ago by Senators Reed of Pennsylvania, Moses of New Hampshire and Phipps of Colorado.

General Hines is anxious to make the loans. He believes that the government must fulfill its obligation to the veterans. But he finds himself without the $25,000,000 authorized by the bill.

The general believes it to be his duty to obtain the money from other sources, if possible. He has several hundred million dollars available in the funds of other forms of government insurance. If the law will permit, he will place those monies at the disposal of the veterans. He is seeking the best legal authority on that point.

If the loans can be granted from those funds, General Hines will probably ask the final authority of President Coolidge, who, too, is anxious to relieve the plight of the veterans.

Use Horse Play To Prolong Filibuster

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, March 3.—An unusual incident in the senate filibuster occurred tonight when Senator Tol Hefflin, Democrat of Alabama, explained at great length how he shot a negro several years ago.

Hefflin acted out the incident on the senate floor assuming the attitude he took while shooting two bullets into the negro's body. He charges that Senator Moses, Republican of New Hampshire, brought up the incident to "embarrass" him.

Moses responded: "The Senator said he was carrying a pistol at that time because his life had been threatened. Does he carry one now?"

"What's none of your business," retorted Hefflin, "Let some thug attack me and find out."

"We have enough laws, declared Miss Stella B. Haines (above), Augusta, Kas., who represents Butler county in state assembly, in her introductory speech. She astounded men legislators when she disclosed that she had come to the assembly without a single bill in her brief case. She said: "I intend to devote my time to demanding a strict enforcement of the present statutes and not trying to promote new laws."

Protection To Colorado River Will Be Given

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, March 4.—Protection against exploitation of the Colorado river by the private power interests pending final action upon the Boulder Canyon Dam Bill was assured by Congress and President Coolidge today.

As one of its last acts, Congress passed a joint resolution forbidding the Federal Power Commission to grant water-power sites in the river to any private interests.

President Coolidge signed the bill in the President's room where surrounded by members of his cabinet, he awaited the expiration of the 69th Congress.

The resolution provides in substance, "That the Federal Power Commission is restricted from issuing or approving any permits or licenses affecting the Colorado river or any of its tributaries."

All the valuable sites in the river now owned by the public have been applied for by private corporations. It was partly because of their desire to acquire the sites for their own uses that corporations in the "power trust" amassed their strength against the Boulder Dam Bill, which they opposed with one of the strongest lobbies ever known to Washington.

Senator Johnson and other advocates of Boulder Canyon Dam feared that the power commission might grant those applications while Congress was out of session. Others contended that the commission was without authority to delay action upon the permits.

In any event, today's action tied the hands of the commission. If the best sites in the northern reaches of the river were parcelled out to the private groups, the value of Boulder Canyon to the government would be greatly diminished.

COL. SMITH OF ILLINOIS WINS SEAT IN SENATE AS COMMITTEE RETURNS FAVORABLE REPORT

(By Universal Service)

WASHINGTON, March 4.—Col. Frank L. Smith today went on the senate payroll as United States senator from Illinois.

Smith won this first "strategic" victory in the bitter fight to deny him a senate seat when the privileges and elections committee reported that his credentials were filed in "proper form" and the senate accepted its report.

At the same time Senator Ernest (R), of Kentucky, reported that the committee failed to agree on Smith's right to a seat in the 69th congress which expired at noon, and to which he was appointed by Gov. Len Small to fill out the term of the late Senator McKinley.

The committee's failure to report lost Illinois its right to be represented by two senators during the second session of the 69th congress.

In accepting Smith's credentials today, the senate automatically conferred upon him all the privileges of a senator until congress reconvenes in December.

At that time the Democrats will renew their fight to prevent Smith from taking the oath of office because of the "slush funds" expended in his primary campaign.

The proposed "contempt" proceedings against Samuel Insull, and Daniel F. Schuyler, will likewise be postponed until next fall because the filibuster prevented Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri, from presenting his resolution, asking the senate to turn them over to the federal district attorney for prosecution.

TEN LAME DUCK SENATORS END POLITICAL LIFE

(By Universal Service)

WASHINGTON, March 4.—Ten Republican "lame ducks" bade adieu to the Senate today and went back to private life.

With them went Senator Oscar Underwood (D), of Alabama, who retired voluntarily after 32 years of congressional service, thus disproving the old saw that "few politicians die and none resign." Among the Republicans were many stalwarts of the old guard who for years were familiar figures within the walls of the Senate. Some went down to defeat because of their stand in favor of the United States joining the World Court. Some were content to "call it a day" and acknowledge their public career at an end. Others frankly admitted a desire to return once again should they receive "the call" to service.

Perhaps the best known of the Republican casualties was Senator Wadsworth of New York, a veteran of 14 years' Senate service, and a power in administration councils for years. He was presented with a silver service today by his fellow members on the military affairs committee, of which he was chairman. Wadsworth would like to "come back."

Another was Senator Lenroot, "stormy petrel" of Wisconsin politics for a generation, who is expected to be rewarded with a fine political plum by the administration for his constant "regularity" despite the bitter opposition of the LaFollette insurgents within his state.

The other lame ducks were Senators Weller of Maryland, Ernest of Kentucky, Cameron of Arizona, Harrell of Oklahoma, Means of Colorado, Pepper of Pennsylvania, Stewart of Iowa and Stanfield of Oregon.

Nap On Railroad Track Leads To Arrest $25 Fine

Gustav George of Richmond, alleged to have been in an inebriated condition, decided to take a peaceful nap on the railroad track Thursday afternoon. His choice was dictated by the damp condition of safer spots.

Five minutes before a railroad locomotive hauling 11 passenger coaches was due Officer Lester Eaton of the Richmond police department, found George enjoying his unconventional resting place with entire peace of mind and body.

He appeared before Police Judge C. A. Odell yesterday morning and paid a $25 fine without demur, and averred that his drinking days were over.

Bear Diamond Stars In Big League Circuits

BERKELEY, March 3.—An average of better than one man a year steps from the University of California baseball team into the big league competition. During the last six years ten men have graduated from the Blue and Gold diamond to try-outs in the American or National leagues.

Ray Rowher was the first Bear to get a chance at the big leagues during Carl Zamoich's regime as baseball coach. He signed a contract with Pittsburgh in 1919 and stayed there until he was farmed to the Pacific Coast League three years later. In 1921 his brother, Claude Rowher, got a chance with the same team and was farmed after one season.

In the same year Caddy Works went to Pittsburgh and Russ Ellison signed with Cleveland. They both lasted a year. Ellison went to Portland; Works went to the Texas League and is now coaching basketball at U. C. L. A.

Mokey Myers signed with Detroit but was sent to San Antonio in the Texas League, where he played sensational ball for three years.

In 1923 Tay Douthit went up to the St. Louis Cards where he has developed into one of the main cogs in the team which won the world's championship last year. John McGraw, manager of the New York Giants, predicts that Douthit will become the greatest outfielder in the National League.

Dutch Thompson, George Makin and Bob Minty also had a chance with the Cards but all three were farmed. Makin is now with Oakland, but cajoled in the International League before coming West. Minty is still playing in the Texas League.

California's newest representative in the big leagues is Jack Newman of the 1926 Bear varsity. He left this week to begin his first spring practice with Detroit.

Rickard Offers Huge Sum For The N. Y. Giants

NEW YORK, March 4.—Tex Rickard, who rules as king promoter of the boxing world, is looking for baseball diamonds to conquer.

The Madison Square Garden man announced this afternoon that he had offered Charles A. Stoneham $2,500,000 for 50 per cent of the New York Giants' club stock. He said that in the event his offer was accepted, he planned to make arrangements with Colonel Ruppert whereby the Giants and the Yankees would use the Yankee stadium for baseball, leaving the Polo Grounds free for other sports.

Stoneham denied that an offer had been made recently for the controlling interest in the Giants, although admitting an offer had been received from Rickard "about a year ago."

Engineers Invent Machine to Strip Lead Sheath From Telephone Cable

If a workman drives his pick through a telephone cable, if a bridge collapses and causes a break, or if the mischief of small boys causes damage in some other way, certain lengths must be cut out and shipped back to the Hawthorne Works of the Western Electric Company in Chicago, where it is manufactured, for replacement.

Recently engineers of the company have developed an improved method for salvaging the lead and copper from junked cable—one more step in the ceaseless industrial effort for further economies, or "saving everything of the pig but the squeal."

The old method consisted of "sweating" off the lead sheath by placing pieces of the cable in a furnace at a temperature of 1,100 to 1,500 degrees Fahrenheit. The lead thus melted off ran into a huge kettle, in which the dross or impurities were removed and the lead prepared for casting into bars or "pigs." In this process, however, a certain amount of the lead contaminated the copper, rendering it unfit for uses requiring the pure metal and leaving it adaptable only for such purposes as brass and bronze making, with its market value considerably below that of commercially pure copper.

To eliminate this contamination of the copper the engineers sought a method of removing the lead sheath by mechanical means. This was a difficult problem to solve, owing to the great variety of sizes and shapes of cable received.

Finally, however, they perfected an ingenious machine which would strip the lead sheath from cable of various diameters. The cable is fed into the machine and flattened by a series of corrugated rollers, which also grip the cable and push it past two horizontal knives that slit it on each side and a revolving knife that cuts it into thirty-inch lengths.

The lead sheath is then easily removed from the wire core. It is sent directly to the lead kettle for melting, while the wire is reclaimed without its lead covering, thus eliminating contamination and producing a copper of higher market value.

EL CERRITO BOOTS OFFER FAST ACTION

Fight fans got their money's worth at the El Cerrito Athletic club bouts last night. The fights were fast and there was but one bout in which the fans showed their disapproval of the decision.

Mickey Brown, of Richmond, knocked out Charley Miller, of San Francisco in the first round after one minute and 20 seconds of fighting.

Johnny Jackson, who substituted for George Godins, of Sacramento, kayeed Doc Limas, of El Cerrito, in the second round of a scheduled four round event.

Cliff Hostetter, of El Cerrito and Ed Cal, of Los Banos, fought a good draw, both fighters showing plenty of speed and willingness to mix.

Manuel Vasquez, of Berkeley, and Mickey Gibbons, of Vallejo, fought a good draw.

Benny Wagers, referee, got an abundance of "boos" thrown at him when he gave Mike Denton a decision over Johnny Alessio in the six round semi windup. Alessio did most of the leading and had a slight edge. The fans seemed to think that a draw would have been a much better decision.

Curt Kramer, of Oakland, and Sammy Olsen, of Los Banos, fought an uneven bout with Sammy Olsen winning all the way. The main event was too tame to furnish any excitement.

Chicago Fourth City In World
(By Universal Service)
CHICAGO, March 4.—From a mere child, 90 years ago, today, Chicago has grown to such proportions that it is now the fourth city of the world.

This is the record on which Chicagoans looked back today as the city quietly celebrated its nineteenth birthday.

No flags, no demonstrations. Just a mere mention in the newspapers.

But the city administration pointed out that ten years from now, when the city celebrates its centennial, the world's largest world's fair will be held.

On March 4, in 1837, the day Martin Van Buren became President of the United States, the 3,500 inhabitants of wind swept Chicago demanded a charter, got it, and the town they started has been growing ever since.

And really, now, it is quite a city—and only 90 years old.

COAL STRIKE IN INDIANA IS RUMORED

(By Universal Service)
CHICAGO, March 4.—Rumors of a coal strike, that would tie up mines in the Illinois-Indiana coal belt, and put 72,000 miners out of work, shifted across the soft-coal fields of the Middle West today.

The only thing to prevent the strike would be an agreement between operators and miners before the Jacksonville wage scale expires March 31. Mine owners contend they cannot compete with the non-union fields of West Virginia and Kentucky. They want an adjustable wage scale to meet the production cost of their rivals north of the Ohio river. The miners maintain that the actual overhead is lowered by the employment of union miners, and the remedy lies in an adjustment of freight rates, and the application of scientific management.

Mr. Haskell Completely Relieved

Mr. H. Haskell was very much discouraged after two months of the Fong Wan Herb treatment and wished to quit.

He was urged to continue the herbs, and was completely relieved after three more months of the Fong Wan Herb treatment.

His testimonial follows:

Oakland, Calif.,
I suffered for many years from sores of the stomach and from bladder trouble. After years of treatment without results, I became very much discouraged and feared that I should never again be well. One day I saw in the newspaper a testimonial that Mr. P. Oliver had given to the FONG WAN HERB CO. As his case had been similar to mine, I called upon Mr. Oliver and learned from him that everything stated in that testimonial was true. I then began to faithfully take the FONG WAN HERB TREATMENT and after three months I was a well man. At the time of this writing my blood test is negative and my bladder is in splendid condition. 3113 Linden St.

Camp Ground Site On Beautiful Blue Lakes

LAKE COUNTY
30 acres with quarter mile frontage on lake and famous Ukiah-Tahoe highway. This highway, connecting the two greatest lakes in California, will be the most traveled in the north. Another important thing is that California is the playground of the United States. According to Major Bowie, U. S. weather forecaster, with headquarters in California, this state will have ten million population to care for by 1935, besides all the tourist business. Just think what this will mean to people who are fortunate to own good sites.

TRAFFIC LAW ENFORCEMENT RECORD PERIOD

A record period of traffic law enforcement in San Francisco marked the first month of the movement launched by the California State Automobile Association to reduce the city's street accident death toll, according to a report made yesterday of cases handled in traffic court by Police Judge Sylvain J. Lazarus. The report covered the first month of operation of the definite schedule of minimum penalties adopted by the Traffic Law Enforcement Board, the permanent body organized from the original conference called by Percy E. Towne, chairman of the Automobile Association Public Safety Committee.

The enforcement body, including police judges, police officials, other public officials and law enforcement agencies and representatives of organized motordom and the city's newspapers, agreed that certainty of punishment would be the strongest deterrent to reckless driving. Results were immediately noticed.

Judge Lazarus reported a record of 467 convictions in traffic court and a total of $2,482 in fines collected. Fifteen traffic law violators received jail sentences, 14 had their licenses suspended, 10 were held to answer to the superior court on felony charges. 169 were fined various amounts for speeding, 211 were fined $2 for failure to observe stop signs, and 22 violators forfeited $5 bail. Thirty-three speeding cases were dismissed as were 255 motorists charged with minor offenses. Of those fined for speeding, 8 paid $50 under the schedule adopted by the Traffic Law Enforcement Board, 7 paid $25, 4 paid $20, 2 paid $15, 78 paid $10 and 97 paid $5.

Asks Damages Of $15,000 In Action Against Water Co.

MARTINEZ, March 4.—Frank Tieche, Orinda chicken farmer, today filed suit against the East Bay Municipal Utilities district, claiming that the boring of the Orinda tunnel of the district has shut off his water supply of 800 gallons a day from a spring. He asks $15,000 damages.

Reports Of The Dismissal Of Mexican Minister Branded False

(By Universal Service)
MEXICO CITY, March 4.—Senor Don Manuel Telles, remains Mexico's ambassador to the United States, his status not being involved in the recent rapid exchange of notes between Washington and Mexico City. Foreign Secretary Saez declared tonight in a formal statement from the foreign secretary who said: "The news published on today's press relative to the Mexican Ambassador at Washington has no foundation at all. As was stated some days ago Senor Telles urgently asked leave to come to Mexico to attend to his private affairs but he cancelled his trip when the reasons for it disappeared."

"As the reasons again occurred the Ambassador was granted permission to make a short trip to Mexico to attend private business."

"He will then return immediately to Washington and assume his post again."

"Accordingly the accounts published regarding the ambassador today are false."

Hampshire and Wadsworth of New York.

While it was stated at the White House that the President is greatly concerned over the failure of Congress to provide money to pay widows' pensions, veterans' loans and other vital measures, he believes Congress had ample time to do its work and there is no occasion for a special session.

While the House was handling the bill, the Senate, worn to a frazzle by a continuous session of 37 hours, which failed to crush the filibuster against the Reed resolution extending the life of the slush fund committee, was in turmoil. The thump of the ivory gavel by Vice-President Dawes brought the session to a merciful close.

The filibuster hog-tied the legislative functions of the Senate, but failed utterly in its real purpose—to hamstring the Reed slush fund committee and prevent it from lifting the lid on the alleged corruption in the Pennsylvania and Illinois elections.

Immediately after the Senate adjourned, Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, who led the gallant fight for adoption of the resolution, announced that his committee will continue its work. It will not only open the ballot boxes in Pennsylvania, but it will open up a new inquiry into alleged fraud and corruption in the Colorado senatorial contest.

WILL CONTINUE INVESTIGATION ON SLUSH FUND

By EDWARD L. RODDAN
(By Universal Service)

WASHINGTON, March 4.—Despite the failure of the Senate to act upon the Reed resolution continuing the "slush fund" committee, the committee will continue its investigation of the Vaw-Wilson election in Pennsylvania, Senator James A. Reed, chairman, announced today.

Although the filibuster blocked passage of Reed's resolution, the defiant Missourian declared the committee has full power to "carry on" during the recess of Congress.

"The committee will impound the Pennsylvania ballot boxes. The committee will go to Colorado to investigate the situation there."

This bold challenge was hurled by Reed after adjournment at Senators David A. Reed and George Moses, the self-styled "two musketeers," who tied the Senate in legislative knots for three days to prevent passage of his resolution.

American Killed Near Vera Cruz

(By Universal Service)

MEXICO CITY, March 4.—Alberto Del Campo, an American, was killed and Roberto Creager, Republican national committeeman of Texas, narrowly escaped with his life during a clash between an armed band of agrarians and workers on the La Gloria sugar plantation in the state of Vera Cruz, according to dispatches reaching this city tonight. The clash is reported to have occurred Thursday night.

"Will" Samples Mexican Beer Near Nogales

(By Universal Service)

NOGALES, Ariz., March 2.—Will Rogers, passed up the Arizona legislature this afternoon to sample Mexican beer across the border in Sonora.

"Even a comedian has his pride," he explained in an impromptu speech to several hundred persons. "I could have talked to them but I thought it better to come over here and talk to you."

Will's oration was made after he had been conducted through several breweries—he didn't remember how many—and had sampled the product of each.

"In New York," the former folks star said "all saloons are ordered closed at 3 o'clock, so its up to the customers to get drunk before that time or go dry."

As a self-made ambassador, Rogers also had something to say on the Mexican situation.

"I think Mexico is real lenient allowing these old companies 50 years," he remarked. "If they can't get all the oil they want in that time they ought to quit."

DR. BULGIN PREACHES ON CHURCH HEROES

Dr. Ellwood J. Bulgin, evangelist for the Union Revival Meetings being held at Ninth and Nevin, was at his best last night in his gripping sermon "The Triumphs of the Cross." The heart of the hundreds of people present were thrilled by the dramatic presentation of the history of the tremendous difficulties and discouragements through which the Christian Church has come and the triumphs the church has known despite its humble beginning and its unthinkable hardships.

Time and again the great audience burst into applause as Dr. Bulgin stirred the sense of patriotism and pointed out the true heroism of early Christians. The big chorus choir under the direction of Prof. Charles Clark set into fine shape and added much to the meetings.

Prof. Roy Gourley, musician for the Bulgin party, favored the audience with his own rendition of the song "The Fight Is On" which he dedicated to married men. Announcement was made by the General Chairman, Dr. W. W. Biberson, that there would be no meeting at the tent tonight. There will be a service at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon and again at 7:30 p. m. The members of the various young people's organizations of the city were requested to meet for a great union service at the Wesley Methodist Church, Ninth and Nevin, Sunday evening at 6:30. This meeting will be under the direction of Mr. Gourley and Mr. Clark. The various churches will have their regular Sunday morning services.

PULLMAN P. T. A. TO GIVE PILLOW SLIP WHIST

(By Universal Service)

Tentative plans for a pillow slip whist to be given in the near future were made at a meeting of the Pullman Parent Teachers' association last Thursday. Mrs. Sadie Newford, president, welcomed the guests during the session. Sewing work is also being done by the association for the needy families of that district.

BIGAMIST HAS LONG AND BAD CRIME RECORD

guilt to burglarizing a store of $2000 worth of merchandise. Wrestler with a carnival company, prizefighter, known in the ring as Jack Hayes, violinist, poet and shorthand expert.

As for Don Juan: Married between 10 and 15 women—Memory a bit hazy as to the exact number.

Wives ranged in age between 16 and 44.

John married his first wife shortly after celebrating his sixteenth birthday and, whenever at "liberty from jail" he kept from getting lonely by getting married. "I really never had time to think of anything but divorce," said John who was busy making preparations for his marriage to a woman of 50 with "lots of dough" when the police halted his plans and put him in jail.

Today, Kearney confided in his jailers that he was ready to confess to the murder of Harold Lage, Stockton automobile salesman who was found beaten to death in the wills of Amador county several weeks ago. Willard "Red" Shannon, ex-convict, arrested in Salt Lake City is now waiting trial for the murder.

Police refused to listen to Kearney's "confession" because they say they are positive that he had nothing to do whatever with the crime and was never at anytime associated with Shannon.

"Just a little stunt to create an insanity defense," said Detective Sergeant Richmond Tatham.

TONOPAH IS IN FEVER OF GOLD RUSH

(By Universal Service)

TONOPAH, Nev., March 4.—A gold rush that brought back memories of bygone days was in progress here tonight when scores of men, each seeking to outwit the other, started for Weepah section beyond Lone Mountain in the Silver Peak range.

The "rush" started when two box prospectors, Frank Horton and Leonard Hraynor arrived in town with rock sprinkled with pure gold which assayers asserted was valued at $75,000 a ton.

The boys refused to tell where they got their find. Young Horton refused an offer of $1,000 to reveal the location. Horton said he would keep his secret until his father arrives from Los Angeles.

Mining experts declared that the rocks found by the boys did not come from the surface but from between 5 and 10 foot depths.

McRacken Dance Is Big Success

An ideal dance floor, alluring dance music and a smart display of the very latest in men's fashion clothes combined to make the McRacken anniversary dance at the Carquinez last night a complete success. The fashion display between the waltzes and fox trots harmonized very well. Irene Remington and Frank Lavy executed a black bottom jig with Lavy wearing the newest in golf togs, and also a tango for which Lavy wore a "Carleton" tuxedo.

Other numbers were: Dell Perry in "Crazy Words, Crazy Tune"; Hazel McDaniels and Clarence Engles, "Take in the Sun, Hang Out the Moon"; Dell Perry and Jane Gates, "I'm Telling the Birds and I'm Telling the Bees"; Jane Gates, "Because I Love You"; Remington and Lavy, a waltz clog and a waltz exhibition.

SIX BABIES ARE DEAD THROUGH NURSE'S ERROR

By FRED VAN DEVENDER
(By Universal Service)

CHICAGO, March 4.—With the death of one more baby today as the result of an error of nurses at Columbus Memorial hospital, the dead now stands at six.

At the same time, charges and counter charges, blames and dodges and even a political scramble developed.

The three nurses who have admitted responsibility for feeding the babies a boric acid solution in place of distilled water, have been suspended by the hospital authorities until the situation is cleared.

Dr. Herman N. Bundeson, city health commissioner, explaining that the case in question was one for the coroner, but at the same time declaring it is his duty to watch over the conduct of the city hospitals, was attacked by Coroner Oscar Wolff, who hotly declared that the power of the coroner is being usurped.

Dr. Bundeson before reaching his office today stated that the mystery in the case surrounds the continued attempt of some person or persons to cover up the situation.

Dr. Zane D. Clopper, coroner's physician, will be asked to resign. It was stated, because he reported the death of the babies was due to influenza. He was criticized severely for not investigating the deaths more severely.

Infant Johnson died today of convulsions, despite the fact that a corps of medical experts was called to attend him. A seventh child is reported to be near death as the result of the poisoning. Five others, taken with nausea shortly after the administering of the poison, have almost recovered, but three others are still seriously ill.

Testimony at the inquest into the deaths was continued today. It was stated that the night superintendent of nurses is finally responsible for the use of boric acid solutions, and that she is partly to blame for the deaths.

In confessions to the coroner the three nurses suspended, Miss Irene Schwartz, Miss Margaret Cuff and Miss Allen Calahan, said that the solution had been given by mistake, having been placed in the container usually used for distilled water. Miss Anna Haas is the night superintendent of nurses.

Plans to exhumate the bodies of all the infants have been made and it is believed this will be done in the next day or two in order to complete the inquest.

"I am not satisfied with the progress that has been made in the investigation," Coroner Wolff declared. "I shall probably subpoena all of the nurses, internes and doctors who were on duty at the hospital last Saturday night, when the poison was given."

Dr. Bundeson said: "There has been a plain case of trying to cover up the deaths."

The Columbus Memorial hospital has about 150 beds. It is not a children's hospital. It is operated by a Catholic sisterhood.

Good Will Flyers To Join Forces Continue Flight

(By Universal Service)

BUENOS AIRES, March 4.—The American good will flight, which has been flying in two divisions since the planes reached Colombia, is to be unified tomorrow at Montevideo, according to present plans, it became known today.

The San Francisco and Detroit are already in Montevideo and the San Antonio, which has been flying behind the others, arrived here today and will leave tomorrow to join the others.

Captain Arthur B. McDaniel and Lieutenant Robinson, the United States aviators on the San Antonio, flew over the city today and were given a reception aboard the Almirante in the afternoon.
